Product description

With an ester content of between 1,000 and 1,100 grams per hectolitre of alcohol, this twelve-year-old Hampden falls into the HGML category.

Particularly opulent, this version initially unveils empyreumatic, medicinal, heady and oxidative tones of rare power and great distinction. Then, once this telluric backdrop has been set, it reveals a delicate, nuanced personality marked by notes of fresh figs, orange, acacia honey and cocoa.
